DAKOTA CONVOCATION SALE OF GOODS

At the close of the women's meeting at the General Convocation at Huron those delegates present from the Niobrara Deanery held a short meeting at which were discussed a few plans for the women's work at the coming Niobrara Convocation on Crow Creek, in August. Mrs. Clark reported that the women on Crow Creek were planning to conduct a sale during Convocation to which any auxiliary or any individual in the Niobrara Deanery might bring goods for sale. The proceeds from such sales will be returned directly to whomever brings the articles. All branches of the Woman's Auxiliary are asked to cooperate in this new venture and to bring Indian bead work, quilts or new garments which may be placed on sale.

MEETINGS OF THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE LEAGUE AT THE NIOBRARA CONVOCATION.

This year at the Convocation all offerings of the young people will be presented in their own meetings instead of in the women's meeting as had formerly been done. It is hoped that every branch of the Church School Service League will send its delegate with the offering. The older delegates will have their own meeting and those between the ages of five and twelve will have a special program planned for them. This will consist of games and supervised play as well as instruction. This has been planned in order to relieve the mothers of the oversight of the children during the time of the women's meeting as well as to give the children some definite part in the Niobrara Convocation.

NOTES.

An Eastern Church paper prints the following: "From the pulpit of Christ Church Bishop Roberts, apostle to the Indians, thrust often through our complacency with the sword of his wit and frankness. One of his thrusts was about not getting down on our knees to pray. In speaking of the simple Christianity of the Indians he emphasized the fact that they actually kneel when they pray. Then to us he said, 'Kneel on your knees; don't kneel on your faces.'

St. Mary's School, at Springfield, will close its year's work on May 26th. It has been a most successful year, with a large attendance of pupils; at times almost more than the buildings could accommodate; with a good record in studies and other work done. The new Principal, Mrs. Elliott, has proved to be just the person for the work. At the closing exercises three prizes will be given; The Bishop's Prize, to the pupil having the best grades in conduct; the Principal's prize, to the one having the best grades in studies; and the Warden's Prize, to the pupil who has made the most advancement in character during the year.

The report of the Church Periodical Club, which has recently been issued makes fascinating reading. The organization has expended over $20,000 during the year, and almost 26,000 periodicals have been sent regularly into the field by over 12,000 persons. 67,000 books have been given, nearly 254,000 Christmas and Easter cards, and 590,000 old books, magazines and papers. 6,500 pieces of music have been given out, and 36,000 pictures, games and scrap books. This means a tremendous mass of work done; and who can estimate the help and encouragement which these gifts have brought?

The recent Convocation of the District of South Dakota, which was held at Huron on May 7-9 continued the fine traditions of fellowship and enthusiasm which have always marked our work and its workers. A full attendance was present, and the arrangements by the local parish had been well and were well carried out. Among other important work was the re-organization of the Department of Religious Education, under its new Secretary, Rev. Mr. Siegfriedt. It is hoped to take up some of the branches of work which thus far have had to be left to themselves, and to unify all the work of the District which has to do with religious education. The Rev. Robert Frazier was put at the head of this work in the Niobrara field. We were glad to welcome to our numbers the Rev. R. A. Cowling of Huron and the Rev. Z. T. Vincent, of Pierre; as also to welcome back from the Phillipines the Rev. Leonard Wolcott, who is at present in Brookings.

The Archbishop of Capetown, South Africa, has appealed to the members of the English Church all over the world to give a shilling a year, (about twenty five cents) for the building of the Capetown Cathedral. The building is already begun. It stands on the site of an old slave market.

Mr. Frank Lambert after taking a course in agriculture at Brookings,—previous to which he had been for a year and half at Ashley House,—has gone to Mission, and taken charge of the farm and buildings belonging to the old St. Mary's School. It is hoped that this may be the first step in the upbuilding of our new school for boys there.

In a sketch of the life of Bishop Naide, of Japan,—one of our two native Japanese Bishops, the following incident is told by him: During all the years of my ministry, the thing that I have been most grateful for is that God has taken care of my health, so that I could do my work; for as a child I was very delicate; and even since I have been grown I have been ill several times. Two years after I came to Osaka I was convinced that my lungs were seriously affected, and I consulted Dr. Laning, the mission doctor. I saw in his face an expression of anxiety; and after he had examined me, without saying a word he gave me some medicine and sent me home. As the next day was Sunday I asked some one to take my place in the services and I spent the entire day at home in prayer and meditation. The next night at ten o'clock, I thought my earthly life was coming to an end, and with that expectation I sent up my last prayer. I prayed that if God had any use for me He would consecrate the remainder of my life to Himself and to His kingdom on earth; but that if it was His will I would gladly obey His call. After this prayer I felt refreshed, and was filled with a feeling that is indescribable, and went to sleep peacefully. On Tuesday morning, by appointment, I went to Dr. Laning's and was again examined by him, as carefully as before. But this time he looked bewildered. He called the Vice-Director of the hospital and asked him to examine me; and they both looked at each other, and talked as though they were very much puzzled. Then Dr. Laning said to me, "To tell the truth, on Saturday we examined you with great anxiety, but strange to say, this morning there is not a trace or symptom of the disease. So please be at peace."

Confirmation classes of fifty four are not so rare as to be "news," fortunately. But one does not often hear of fifty four baptisms in one service. This occurred at Trinity Cathedral, Phoenix, Arizona. Many of the adults who were baptized were in a class of forty three who were confirmed the same day by the new Bishop of Arizona, Dr. Mitchell.

The New York City Mission distributes printed matter in fifty languages. Not long ago they had a chaplain who could speak seven languages; and he used all seven in one day's visits.

Voltaire, the great anti-Christian teacher, who died in 1778, prophesied that "one hundred years from now the Bible and the Christian religion will be only a memory." When that century had passed the International Bible Society was using Voltaire's former house for its headquarters.

The jail in Brunswick County, Virginia, stands empty for months at a time; and this in spite of the fact that that county has the largest proportion of negro population in the state. The white newspaper published there says that this is due very largely to the influence of Archdeacon Russell, and his school, St. Paul's. This is one of the eleven schools under the direction of the American Church Institute for Negroes.

At the request of the Hastings, Nebraska chamber of commerce Bishop Beecher recently broadcast a message for the benefit of listeners in the arctic zone. Did Dr. Chapman, at Anvik, or any of his missionary friends hear him, we wonder? If so, it is the first time that missionaries in their fields have had a spoken message from their bishops at home.

One of our Japanese clergy in Kyoto took his nineteen year old son, who was dying with tuberculosis, to the city hospital there. The head of the hospital told the father that they had room for his son, and so would have to take him, but that then did not like to admit Christians; and he must plainly understand that he was not to talk to any of the patients about his faith, or distribute Christian literature. But they neglected to forbid him to live his Christianity. The attendants soon noticed that this boy was different from the other patients. He was never impatient nor quarrelsome, nor despondent as they were; and he was always kind and sympathetic to all. Although his burden was as heavy as that of any he was helping the others. The other patients would ask, "How can you be so happy, dying as you are? Do you not fear death?" His answer always was, "I know the true God." When our missionaries, or his father or mother came to visit him they also were cheerful. After a time the authorities of the hospital told our missionary how much they had been impressed by the boy's life, and ended by saying, "If this be Christianity we want more of it." Not long after that the boy died; but through him the way was opened for all the patients in the hospital to hear the glorious message of the Gospel. The hospital is now visited regularly by our missionaries, and by the girl's choir from St. Agnes' School. That is what it means to live your religion.

An amusing Missionary play, which requires only one actor, is suggested by the Junior department of the Canadian Woman's Auxiliary. The one character is a small boy or girl with a radio. He or she "tunes in" on any number of foreign and home missionary centers, and, through a megaphone which passes through a curtain or screen, come different voices, telling what the children's offering is accomplishing in their respective lands; what needs there are there, or whatever may be desired as the point to be made.

Bishop Murray's doctors say that he made a record-breaking recovery from his recent severe illness, leaving the hospital two weeks sooner than could have possibly have been expected. The doctors are surprised, but we are not. The whole Church was praying for him.

Bishop Brent preached in Westminster Abbey early in April at a special service which opened the 225th anniversary celebration of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, one of the two Missionary societies of the Church of England. The first missionaries to be sent out by this society were sent to the Indians in New York state; and their missionaries worked there until the outbreak of the war of the Revolution. Bishop Brent is Bishop of Western New York.

Letters have been received from Bishop Creighton, the newly elected Bishop of Mexico, telling how wonderfully he has been received, and what happy times he is having; and speaking in the most hopeful terms of the condition of our Church work there, and his hopes and plans for the future.

Circulation of the Spirit of Missions on April last was at the highest figure ever reached by it in its ninety years of serving the Church. There has been an average increase of one thousand copies for each issue since the first of the year. 38,000 copies were mailed in April. Through the work, largely, of the children of the Church in their Lenten work, new subscriptions are now coming in at the rates of three hundred per week.

"Gather kittens while you may." A member of St. Paul's Church, Monongahela, Penn., is aiding the building of the parish house there by selling kittens to friends and neighbors; all the proceeds going to the parish house fund. The price per kitten is twenty-five cents.
